

Support Services for Adults With Special Needs

Most communities offer programs and services for adults with special needs. Various programs and services for adults with special needs are provided by community agencies. When working with community-based agencies, ask if case managers or service coordinators are provided to help with eligibility requirements, program availability, referrals and applications. The installation Exceptional Family Member Program Family Support office can provide assistance and tips when working with community-based agencies.

Departments of Social Services in each state offer programs and services helping adults with special needs become more self-sufficient. They provide information, assistance and referrals to:

- Home-based assistance, such as companion, shore and homemaker services
- Adult foster care
- Adult day care
- Case management
- Nutrition education
- Assessments for adults entering or residing in assisted-living facilities
- Screenings for adults entering nursing facilities or who need Medicaid-funded home and community-based waivers
- State Medicaid programs
- Abuse and neglect prevention

Departments of Vocational Rehabilitation Services are state-operated and offer a variety of programs and services to locate and maintain employment, including:

- Vocational and career assessment, counseling and referral
- On-the-job training
- Supported employment services
- Job placement services

Departments of Mental Health, Substance Abuse or Behavioral Services are in every state and offer community-based programming for individuals with mental health, substance abuse or other behavioral issues. While services vary greatly from state to state, many programs offer:

- Evaluation and vocational or career assessment
- Vocational assistance or programming
- Outpatient clinical services, such as counseling or therapy
- Individual service planning
- Residential treatment
- Medication education and management
- Case management
- Support and treatment groups
- Day programs
- Clubhouses
- Psychiatric treatment facilities

The Department of Defense offers a complete network of quality-of-life support programs and services to enhance the lives of military families, including the Exceptional Family Member Program; TRICARE; the Morale, Welfare and Recreation program; and Military OneSource. Examples of programs and services include:

- Non-clinical case management
- Family support
- Special needs information and referral
- Medical treatment
- Confidential non-medical counseling
- Health and wellness activities

<http://www.militaryonesource.mil/family-and-relationships/special-needs>

Exceptional Family Member Program support is available for military families with special needs.

For more information, please contact your installation EFMP office or visit <http://www.militaryonesource.mil/family-and-relationships/special-needs> an official Department of Defense website.