Introduction

The Medical Records Organizer for Families was specifically designed for military families on the move. It provides a central location for tracking your family's medical records. This is particularly helpful if your family has to relocate to another state or country. The Medical Records Organizer for Families is also designed to help parents who must leave their children in someone else's care during a deployment or mobilization. The person taking care of your child while you are away needs access to information regarding your child's health. This organizer provides a quick and easy way for that person to locate all of the information he or she may need.

To maximize the benefits of this organizer, incorporate other pieces of health-related information, such as information from doctors or even articles that you feel are valuable. The organizer can also be taken to doctor's appointments to keep track of all that is discussed or can be used to keep track of your family members' health appointments.

Please keep in mind that the organizer is not intended to take the place of official medical records for your family. It contains private information such as social security numbers, medical histories and insurance information. To maintain your family's privacy, keep your organizer in a safe, secure place.

The organizer is available in Adobe Acrobat format, allowing you to type information directly into the forms. If you do not have your information readily available, save the organizer and update it later or print the forms you need and fill them out by hand.

If you have any questions or comments about the Medical Records Organizer for Families, please feel free to submit them through the Military OneSource feedback tab and link. The Military OneSource website also provides copies of individual and customizable special care organizational records for children, adults and elderly family members with special health care needs.

Medical Records Organizer for Families

What is the Medical Records Organizer for Families?

The Medical Records Organizer for Families is a tool to help families organize and keep track of their medical records and all related information. The organizer can also be used to list information and contacts in case of an emergency.

How can the organizer help you?

Frequent military moves make it difficult to keep track of health information. The organizer will help you organize this information for quick access. If you have to place your children in someone else's care while you are deployed or mobilized, the organizer will provide that person with quick and easy access to your children's medical history and relevant medical information. The organizer can also be helpful upon the return of a deployed service member, allowing the parent or guardian to be aware of changes in medical information or services during his or her absence.

Uses for the organizer:

- Track changes in your family's medicines or treatments.
- List telephone numbers for health care providers and community organizations.
- Prepare for appointments.
- File information about your family's health history.
- Share new information with your family's primary doctors and other care providers.
- Make your permanent change of station move easier.

Helpful hints for using your family's organizer:

- Keep the organizer where it is easy to find, so it will always be on hand when you need it.
- Keep the organizer as up to date as possible. Add new information to the organizer whenever there is a change in a family member's medical treatment.
- Bring the organizer with you to appointments and hospital visits so that the information you need will be close at hand.

Medical Records Organizer for Families (continued)

How do you set up your family's organizer? Follow these steps:

Step 1: Gather information you already have.

Gather any health information that you have about your family. This may include reports from recent doctor's visits, immunization records, a summary of a recent hospital stay, test results or informational pamphlets, etc.

Step 2: Look through the pages of the organizer.

Select the pages that you think will be most beneficial for tracking your family's health and care. Once you have determined what you need, print out those selected pages.

Step 3: Decide which information is most important to keep in the organizer.

What information do you find yourself looking for often? What information do the care providers need when caring for your family? Include frequently referenced and important information in your portable organizer and additional, less critical information can be stored in a file drawer or box where you can find it if needed.

Step 4: Put the organizer together.

Organize the Medical Records Organizer for Families in a way that makes the most sense for you and your family. Here are some supplies that may help:

- Three-ring binder or large accordion envelope to hold papers securely
- Tabbed dividers for creating separate sections
- Pocket dividers for storing reports
- Plastic pages for storing business cards and photographs

Things to remember about the organizer:

- While the organizer does contain a lot of your family's medical history and information, it is not intended to replace official medical records.
- The organizer contains private information (for example, social security numbers, insurance information and medical history). It is imperative that you keep it in a safe place.

Note: On July 1, 2007, TRICARE implemented coverage for anesthesia services and associated costs for dental treatment for beneficiaries with developmental, mental, or physical disabilities and children age 5 and under. The services require preauthorization through the regional TRICARE contractors (<http://www.tricare.mil/mybenefit>). The change in this benefit does not provide coverage for the actual dental care services. Coverage for dental care services is available through the TRICARE Dental Program and the TRICARE Retiree Dental Program.
