

PROTECT OUR CHILDREN

Report child sexual abuse – it's the right thing to do.

It's a difficult situation, but it's critically important.

If you are concerned about the safety of your child, or any young person in your community, these military and civilian resources can help point you in the right direction.

Where to start

- Call 911 or local law enforcement.
- Contact your local Child Protective Services agency.
- Contact your installation's Family Advocacy Program at <https://installations.militaryonesource.mil>.
- Call the Defense Department Child Abuse and Safety Hotline (for concerns happening at a Defense Department child development center or with a child and youth program):
 - » CONUS: 877-790-1197
 - » OCONUS: 571-372-5348

Other community-based crisis resources

- Childhelp National Child Abuse Hotline: 800-422-4453
- Stop It Now! helpline: 888-773-8368
- Rape, Abuse and Incest National Network: 800-656-4673

If you suspect a child is in immediate danger, call 911 or Child Protective Services.
