Non-medical Counseling Data Warehouse Puts Military and Family Life Counseling Data at Your Fingertips

The application lets you access key data to better serve the needs of service members and their families.

Data Warehouse is a powerful online application that lets the Office of the Secretary of Defense, headquarter points of contact and installation decision makers easily find and analyze data about non-medical counseling activities among service members and their families.

Data Warehouse provides information when and how you need it.

- Turn data into knowledge.

- Get insights into non-medical counseling activities to improve prevention and intervention support.

- Access program data 24/7 in one easy-to-use application.

- View data in simple chart formats.

- Generate reports by installation, state and branch of service.

- Download detailed data for custom analysis.

- Segment data for trend analysis, benchmarking purposes or other specific needs.

You'll find
Data Warehouse on https://apps.militaryonesource.mil.

To access:
Click on Data Warehouse under Staff Applications to get started.

To provide feedback or request support:
Click on the Feedback/Support button.