

Tutor.com Eligibility

TEMPORARILY EXPANDS DURING PANDEMIC

The coronavirus disease 2019 pandemic is causing academic disruptions, but the Tutor.com for U.S. Military Families program can help relieve them. Department of Defense Military Community and Family Policy is temporarily expanding program eligibility, as of April 2020, for DOD-affiliated personnel and their families. The program offers no-cost access to live online tutoring, homework help and test preparation, 24/7 on demand.

Features of Tutor.com

FOR U.S. MILITARY FAMILIES

- ✓ One-to-one academic support in more than 100 subjects for grades K-12, college and professional adult students
- ✓ Personalized help in all core subjects, including math, reading, writing, science, history, world language, finance, accounting, nursing and computer science, plus test prep and study skills
- ✓ Safe, anonymous and interactive online tutoring with carefully screened experts who are available around the clock from any internet-connected device

How to get started

- ✓ Those who are newly eligible will need to create a new account at <https://tutor.com/military>.
- ✓ Those with continuing eligibility will use their existing accounts.

Eligibility

UNDER THE TEMPORARY EXPANSION

Through June 30, 2020, the temporary expansion opens program eligibility beyond active-duty children and Department of Defense Education Activity students to any active-duty adult and to any DOD civilian, National Guard, Reserve, wounded warrior adults and children and survivors of those killed in action. This includes:

- ✓ Service members, civilian personnel, spouses and college-age children enrolled in a college or professional development course
- ✓ Children in grades K-12 who are navigating at-home learning with less access to teachers
- ✓ ROTC, Navy ROTC and DOD service academy cadets who are wrapping up their academic year
- ✓ As usual, K-12 children in active-duty military families as well as Coast Guard military and civilian family members funded by Coast Guard Mutual Assistance remain eligible

MILITARY ONE SOURCE

Stay up to date on all the latest information on COVID-19. Continue to visit the Coronavirus Updates for Our Military Community page at <https://www.militaryonesource.mil/coronavirus>.