

FACT SHEET | AUGUST 2026

Spouse Ambassador Network

As a military spouse, you can turn to members of the Spouse Ambassador Network for free resources and services that will support your job search and other professional goals.

The Spouse Ambassador Network offers services, support and networking opportunities. Members can also help you discover other organizations and resources that serve the military community. Dedicated to your success and vetted by the War Department, the Spouse Ambassador Network stands ready to help you excel.

A Snapshot of Support

Members of the Spouse Ambassador Network can support your goals by:

- Matching you with a mentor who is successful in your field
- Giving you free tools and resources for launching and growing a business
- Helping you find remote work opportunities
- Providing you with educational resources and funding
- Funding a loan for your small business
- Offering comprehensive job training
- Expanding your network
- Connecting you with many other tools for success

The Spouse Ambassador Network exists to educate, empower and mentor military spouses seeking career and life fulfillment. This group is part of the Military Spouse Employer Partnership, a flagship initiative of the War Department SpouseWorks (formerly SECO) program.

To learn more about the Spouse Ambassador Network and other SpouseWorks programs, start a live chat on SpouseWorks.mil or call Military OneSource at 800-342-9647 to schedule time with a career coach.

Stay Connected

See the full list of member organizations and scope out all the support in your corner at spouseworks.militaryonesource.mil/portal/spouse-ambassador-network